Sometimes in dentistry, we are caught in a race for perfection. We even have a term for it, “The Hollywood Smile.”

While many people want this perfect smile, some of us do not, and promoting perfect smiles can alienate those of us who only seek health and function. Sometimes even the smallest comment from a dentist can feed into insecurities for a lifetime—and I think we often forget about that. We see social media “influencers” from overseas shaving down 75% of their tooth structure for “perfect” white teeth, because they cannot achieve this perfection in an affordable way. But trends change. Health does not.

Although we do offer cosmetic solutions, such as Bioclear smile rejuvenation, tooth whitening, veneers, crowns, implants, Botox and Juvederm, and gingival plastic surgery, we are also a team of general dentists who are here to serve our patients to meet their own goals—not ours—for their smiles.

Too many times we hear patients disparage their own teeth—they’re too dark, too crowded, too chipped, too ‘something’, and it breaks my heart. We want you to love your smile for the things it can do. We eat, we drink, we celebrate. Our teeth are there to help us enjoy our lives. Take care of them and they will take care of you, no matter how they look.

If you want The Hollywood Smile—we are here to serve. If you do not—we are also here to serve.

You are the patient. It is your smile and your teeth. We are here to guide and help you. Please give us a call for an initial visit to discuss your concerns. -Dr. Aggie
