

Embrace the Country Life at Home by
Drawing Inspiration from the Past

Nostalgic prints, patinaed antiques, and organic textures give modern spaces more depth. They call it Grandmillennial style, but Barrington has been embracing these traditional elements for decades.

TURTLE DOVES PRINT

The blush mat and soft colors of the print drew me to this. It is the perfect size for over a sideboard or entry table.

The English Daisy

IRON CANDLESTICKS

With great texture and shape, these would be so pretty on a mantel with long tapers.

The Winterberry Companies

PAINT COLOR

A bold color on the wall, like Benjamin Moore's color of the year, Aegean Teal, brings richness and is perfect for layering pieces and fabrics in.

WALLPAPER

Some of the most gorgeous design images I have seen mix floral statement papers with modern elements. House of Hackney Paper. Anthropolgie.com

BRASS LAMP

I love the lion handles and scale of this lamp, such a statement piece for a living room.

The Pink Geranium

CEILING LANTERN

A lantern that looks like it was an antique find would be perfect for a hallway or even as a pair above a kitchen island.

Kate Marker Home

WOOD SIDECHAIR

This chair has such a great patina and character. The perfect corner piece.

Steeplechase Antiques

WOODEN DISPLAY WITH PLANTER

This styling piece has great texture and paired with the ceramic vase it is a great little moment for a built-in shelf.
