Adapt, Pivot, Re-Invent with Wine

WHO COULD HAVE IMAGINED the 2020 we are all experiencing? Restaurants, sports venues, and bars were required to scale back this year resulting in a huge shift in the wine industry. Social gatherings were replaced with what we hoped would be just a few weeks of cozy home cooking and drinking.

Wine is sold in three tiers. Distributors sell to restaurants, venues, and retailers, the wineries sell to their visitors and members, and some companies sell directly to consumers. Traditionally, distribution has been the largest part of a winery's sales but that is changing as we continue to spend more time at home.

Ilona n Company Events has created experiences focused on luxury wines. They cannot do this in person, but Ilona n Company has pivoted into doing Virtual Wine Tastings.

Visit with friends, family, and coworkers in your area, with the participants anywhere in the country. Tasting flights and wines are sold directly to consumers and include food pairing suggestions. Wine clubs are also available at three levels with the newest one, Joie de Vie. The corporate program can help with virtual events, branded custom label wines, and gifts. Introducing Packs of Plenty

BARRINGTON CHILDREN'S CHARITIES
ANNOUNCES THE LAUNCH OF PACKS OF
PLENTY (P.O.P.) FOOD DISTRIBUTION PROGRAM
FOR LOCAL CHILDREN IN NEED

BARRINGTON CHILDREN'S CHARITIES proudly announces the launch of its newly branded weekend food distribution program. The new Packs of Plenty (P.O.P.) program is the charity's proprietary program and replaces the charity's former Blessings in a Backpack program. "We recently made the decision to oversee and manage all elements of our food program. As the number of children in need continues to grow, this change helps us provide more food to children living in food insecure homes," states charity Co-founder, Darby Hills. The P.O.P. launch includes a logo and branding roll out across all the charity's marketing efforts.

Since 2010, Barrington Children's Charities has provided food packs to food insecure students (on the federal free and reduced-price meal program) living in the Barrington School District 220 area. These children receive food for 38 weekends during the school year. Additional food support was added this past summer due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The P.O.P. program will help fill the nutritional gap by providing a pack of nutritious food for the children to consume each weekend. "Our volunteers sort and pack over $100,000 in food annually for the more than 800 participating students," says Sue Hyde, P.O.P. program volunteer coordinator.

Barrington Children's Charities funds and coordinates the food packs for students enrolled in the program at all eight District 220 elementary schools, early learning center, two middle schools, and the high school. To learn more about the charity's essential needs programs or to volunteer, visit the charity's website at BarringtonChildrensCharities.com.

About Barrington Children's Charities: Barrington Children's Charities is a non-profit 501(c)(3) charitable organization of dedicated men and women working together to positively impact the lives of children in the Barrington and surrounding communities. Run entirely by volunteers, Barrington Children's Charities works to meet essential needs for children in the Barrington School District 220 area. The charity focuses on providing food, dental care, eye care, and mental health services to children whose families cannot afford to meet these essential needs.

You Can Help! A Virtual Holly Ball Event this year will help the charity meet its goals as an essential needs charity. To donate or sponsor, visit barringtonchildrenscharities.com
